The Waveland Civic Assoc. and the Krewe of Blarney Halfast Walkin' Klub conducted their respective annual St. Patrick's parades in style on Saturday.

"The weather's really just about perfect," Waveland Mayor Mike Smith said Saturday. "We have a tremendous turn-out today."

Float riders in the Waveland parade throw cabbages, carrots, oranges and other produce -- along with more traditional parade fare like beads and doubloons -- to the spectators.

WCA's 2019 Grand Marshal AJ Andres led the way in the 55th annual parade, along with the 2019 Colleen, Casey Lee

In Pass Christian, Grand Marshal Victor Pickich led the Krewe of Blarney Halfast Walkin' Klub's 25th annual parade, with the 2019 Colleen, Celest Plaisance.

The crew began the parade with a toast to Mayor Chipper McDermott at Pass Christian City Hall; and made several "toasting stops" along the route, before winding up with an hours-long block party.

For the second year in a row, the Bay Ratz Marching Battery performed along the route this year.

"This is a really great parade," one of the Bay Ratz moms said Saturday. "I thought it was wonderful, really great."

Former police officer pleads guilty to manslaughter in daughter's death

On Monday, the former Long Beach police officer whose three-year-old daughter died in a hot patrol car in 2016, pled guilty to manslaughter.

Cassie Hope Barker, 29, pled guilty to culpable negligence manslaughter, District Attorney Joel Smith said in a press release issued Monday.

"The investigation began on September 30, 2016, when Hancock County Sheriff's Deputies were dispatched to a home on CC Road in the Kiln in response to an unresponsive child," Assistant District Attorney Chris Daniel, who prosecuted the case, said in the release. "First responders arrived minutes later to find the defendant performing CPR on her child, who had just been removed from her Long Beach Police Department patrol car. EMS professionals on scene reported the child was very hot and unresponsive and showed no signs of life. Witnesses reported the defendant stated she had left the child in her patrol car in the yard for three-to-four hours."

Ambulance workers from AMR transported the girl to Hancock Medical Center where her temperature was recorded as being 107 degrees, Daniel said.

"Doctors unsuccessfully attempted to revive the child," he said. "During the investigation, detectives found the patrol car's windows up, with the air conditioner set to low fan, and the temperature between the cold and hot settings. Further investigations of phone records and witness interviews, revealed the defendant had gone to the home to talk to her supervisor after ending her shift, and that she engaged in sexual

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors on Monday heard several presentations.

Lisa Cowand, incoming board President of the Hancock County Food Pantry, and John Wittliff, pantry treasurer, gave the board an update on the organization.

Cowand said that the pantry is the only full-time pantry in the county and operates as a non-profit organization. It was founded in 1986 to provide "food and personal hygiene products for low-income families."

The pantry is open Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to noon, closed for holidays, and is 100 percent staffed by more than 100 volunteers. More than 91 percent of funds are used to purchase food for those in need, she said.

The pantry operates out of a county-owned facility at 9972 Hwy. 603, Cowand said. The county also pays for the electricity,

50 years of St. Joseph's Altars in BSL

BY GEOFF BELCHER
NEWS EDITOR

This past Tuesday marked the end of an era: The Koerner family of Bay St. Louis hosted its 50th annual -- and last -- St. Joseph's Altar.

Every year, hundreds of Hancock County residents eat well on March 19, thanks to altars to St. Joseph at the Koerner family home, as well as Our Lady of the Gulf Church in the Bay and St. Clare Catholic Church in Waveland. Each of the altars feature multiple tables piled high with loaves of bread, cakes, cookies, baked redfish, stuffed flounder, stuffed artichokes and more.

"This is it," Clyde Koerner, Jr., said Tuesday. "I fulfilled my commitment."

Clyde's mother, Patsy, started the tradition in 1969 when he was inducted in to the U.S. Marine Corps. The original intent was for St. Joseph to keep him safe while her served in Vietnam.

However, she kept it going long after he returned stateside.

Although Patsy passed away in 2003, the family continued the tradition in her memory.

The Bay St. Louis Little Theatre enjoyed a spirited crew of competitors on Saturday for its 11th annual Stella Yelling Contest. Each contestant did his or her best impression of Marlon Brando in the movie version of Tennessee Williams' "A Streetcar Named Desire." The winners included, in the children's division: First place, Tim Dangermond; second place, Liam Morgan; and third place, Paul Fraiser. In the adult division: First place, Jeff Cabe; second place, Jim Fraiser; and third place, Denise White. The Little Theatre holds the contest every year as part of its Tribute to celebrate Tennessee Williams' birthday. BSLLT has a connection with the Pulitzer Prize winning author because the theatre's building was the primary set for the Hollywood motion picture "This Property is Condemned," based on a one-act play by Williams.

The Waveland Police Department continued its crackdown on a string of burglaries this week, picking up a suspect Monday in last week's break-in at the Waveland Barber College. Chief Mike Prendergast said.

"Eric Blake Alligood, of Bay St. Louis, was charged with four counts of residential burglary, one count of burglary of a commercial business, two counts of petit larceny, one count of malicious mischief and one count of trespassing," Prendergast said. According to Hancock County Justice Facility records, he was still incarcerated at press time Tuesday, and his bond had been revoked.

Investigators Eddie Hursey and Adam Penton made the arrest, Prendergast said.

"We're gradually getting some of the people's merchandise back," he said. "Most of the merchandise was recovered from the house he was staying at, but some of it was pawned."

Prendergast said the arrest was part of the thing, they need to please call dispatch at 228-255-9191. If you see anything suspicious in your neighborhood, please call."

Constance St. Julien-Mims, who owns the barber college, said last week she is working with the community to try to replace all the equipment that was stolen last Tuesday during a break-in.

To help replace the needed equipment, you can call Mims at 251-472-5187. If anyone has information about the burglary, please call Central Dispatch at 255-9191.

A Pass Christian homeowner is safe after part of his home went up in flames Monday morning while he was inside.

Pass Christian Fire Chief Dwight Gordon said the fire started just before 9 a.m. Monday.

Witnesses reported seeing flames coming from the east end of a Timber Ridge home on Fernwood Drive.

Upon arrival, Gordon said, fire crews noticed a man inside the home. "He was up and moving," Gordon said. "We were able to get him to come out safely."

Flames consumed the attic of the home as well as most of the back wall of the house, destroying even some of the outside amenities located close to the home, Gordon said.

Numerous firefighters from different agencies fought the flames from both the inside of the home and the outside for nearly two-and-a-half hours.

Gordon said an F-500 cooling agent was used to assure the flames were totally extinguished. This device, Gordon said, rapidly cools whatever is burning to the point where what's burned can almost be touched with your bare hands.

No injuries were reported; however AMR was at the scene and treated the homeowner for smoke inhalation.

Harrison County Fire Services, CRT and Long Beach Fire assisted Pass Christian Fire Department in smothering the flames.

The investigation is ongoing.

Losing a piece of your childhood

When the actor Luke Perry passed away on March 4, I took it pretty hard.

Yes, I realize that I didn't know him personally, but news of his sudden death at age 52, brought immediate tears to my eyes.

When I was finally old enough, in my parents' eyes, I was allowed to watch the television show "Beverly Hills: 90210."

It was about the struggles and triumphs of high school students in Los Angeles. During the show's 10-year run, viewers watched the group graduate from high school, attend and graduate fro, college, and then try and become successful adults in the real world.

It is, and remains, one of my favorite shows. Perry played the character of Dylan, the handsome and troubled heartthrob of the group.

While I didn't grow up in Los Angeles, I still related to many of the situations these characters found themselves in throughout their high school and college careers.

I was certainly glad that the writers weren't afraid to write about topics such as sexual assault; the harmful effects of drug use; failed relationships; and other themes that seemed taboo to air on television at the time.

While it's not a replacement for therapy or finding real help, the show might have been the push a viewer needed to seek out the assistance he or she needed.

The show is still a favorite of mine and I watch it every so often to remind myself of the good ole days.

It got me thinking about some of my other favorite shows that had an impact on me and gave me role models.

I was a child of Nick at Nite, so I watched reruns of the "Mary Tyler Moore Show"; "Bewitched"; "I Dream of Jeannie"; "Get Smart"; "Maude"; "All in the Family"; and "The Golden Girls," to name just a few.

My parents also felt that I was too young to watch "The Golden Girls" at the time.

So, I used to visit our neighbor, whom we lovingly called MeMaw. Unbeknownst to my parents, they know now of course, MeMaw would let me watch "The Golden Girls."

She also watched 90210 with me on Wednesday nights. We would drink root beer and eat Little Debbie snacks. She always had a hefty supply of both. I have so many good memories of my MeMaw.

When I heard of Perry's death, it felt like a part of my childhood died. Years later, I watched him in the show "Riverdale" and in other movie roles.

Outside of acting roles, he always seemed to handle himself quite well in public.

I found this quote from Perry, "I think that sometimes kids use the show as a jumping off point for talking about things with their parents."

And I believe 90210 accomplished that to an extent. I was always open with my parents about most everything — well that Golden Girls thing stayed a secret for a good while — and the show always showed me that I could survive high school; attend college if I wanted to or not; and even become a writer.

House Democratic Caucus Summary Report for Week of March 11

Last week, House Caucus members forced passage of a teacher pay raise that had only been dreamed of during this term. Senate Bill 2770 had offered an anemic $1,000 raise to be spread over two years and House leadership was ready to accept this paltry sum before House Democrats offered the amendment to raise it to $4,000. Ironically, the last time teachers received a raise was during the last election year.

When the measure came to the floor of the House on Monday, we amended the proposed teacher pay raise to $4,000 to be provided over two years. It was hard to argue with the appeal to provide substantial pay increases to teachers – Mississippi is in the throes of a teacher shortage crisis, caused in large part by low teacher pay.

It is our position that the budgeting process should reflect the priorities of the state. For too long, public education has been shortchanged; to the tune of about $2 billion dollars when this fiscal year closes. It is our hope that the coming negotiations over appropriations will show that we value public education as a priority.

We were not as successful in fighting for much-deserved pay raises for state employees. Amendments were offered to several bills to secure pay raises for them and those amendments were all either voted down directly, or tabled in a killing parliamentary move. Some of our state employees fill positions that have not received raises in 14 years. Again, if we value the work that these faithful public servants provide to all of us, we should pay them commensurate with their value.

Senate Bill 2305 passed the House 115-0. We amended this measure which addresses the scourge of human trafficking. Unfortunately, Mississippi law enforcement and care providers are seeing an increase in this despicable practice, which places vulnerable populations into forced labor or even sex work. The bill has been returned to the Senate for concurrence.

Thinking about Health: One more chance to look at options for Medicare or Medicare Advantage

Solicitations for Medicare Advantage plans once again have been arriving in the mail, promising the best bargain since sliced bread. A case in point is one from Emblem Health, a managed care company in my area that says it considers me what they call a “candidate” for their “special needs plan.” I don’t qualify for such a plan.

The solicitation was interesting, though, for what it promised. Free transportation to and from doctor, hospital, and lab appointments, but only up to 24 one-way trips a year. It also promised “no referrals.” Did that mean no referrals were necessary to visit specialists? The solicitation didn’t say.

That seemed highly unusual for what I am assuming is a Medicare Advantage HMO. HMOs usually require consumers to obtain referrals to specialists.

Guest Column by Trudy Lieberman

But shoving aside the questionable advertising pitches such solicitations are known for, that one reminded me that beneficiaries are now in a special enrollment period until the end of March. The special enrollment period, which began January 1, gives seniors a three-month window during which they can switch some of their Medicare arrangements.

It’s also a good time for those who will soon be turning 65 to begin thinking of their options and learn what the rules are once they make their selections.

Until the end of March, if you have a Medicare Advantage plan, you are allowed to switch to another Medicare Advantage plan, or you can drop a Medicare Advantage plan, return to traditional Medicare and buy a Part D stand-alone drug benefit, says Tricia Neuman, a senior vice president of the Kaiser Family Foundation and a Medicare expert.

What you cannot do if you have traditional Medicare along with a stand-alone drug plan is switch to a new drug benefit that might let you save more money on your prescriptions. You can do that only during the open enrollment period in the fall.

Keep in mind that if you drop a Medicare Advantage policy and switch to traditional Medicare, you might have trouble buying a Medigap policy to fill in holes in Medicare coverage. Only four states have what’s known as guaranteed issue Medigap insurance. In New York, Connecticut, Maine, and Massachusetts, people dropping MA plans in favor of traditional coverage can buy a Medigap even if they have preexisting conditions. In other states they may not be able to do that.

When might it be useful to consider other options during this brief window for switching?

If you have a Medicare Advantage plan that has a drug benefit built in as

DWGAN Golfing News from February 2019

BY SHIRLEY
HALTERMAN

Looks like good old Mother Nature is still trying to play havoc with our golfing. We really are not used to quite this much rainy weather at this time of the year. Oh well, guess on a positive note Mardi Gras is just around the corner.

We did manage to get in our first Tuesday of the month, Trophy Day. And our winners were: Flight #1 - Low Gross - Therese Mauterer, Low Net - Carol Gothie and Low Putts - Marilyn Galus. Flight #2 - Low Gross - Carol Laux, Low Net - Marsha Roberts and Low Putts - Nancy Sislow. And last, but not least, Flight #3 - Low Gross - Dinah Knobloch, Low Net - Mary Murray and Low Putts - Sylvia Corban. Our Longest Drive winners were: Carol Gothie, Pat VanDervort and Mary Murray. Those who came Closest to the Pin were: Marilyn Galus, Marsha Roberts and Carol Laux.

On February 12th, we planned to play a game of Even Holes, but once again Mother Nature intervened and the round had to be cancelled.

The following Tuesday, February 19th, we had better luck. Managed to get our game of Low Putts Threesome in shortly before the heavens opened up yet again. And, the 1st Place Team with a total of only 56 Putts for the three member team consisting of Dinah Knobloch, Therese Mauterer and Mary Mizell. There was a tie for 2nd Place with both teams scoring 58 putts. One team was made up of Sylvia Corban, Marilyn Galus and Mary Murray and the other was composed of Shirley Halterman, Dolores Louvier and Marsha Roberts. In addition, Marilyn Galus scored a Chip-In on Hole #11 and Shirley Halterman had one on Hole #18. Very well done gals!

The final Tuesday of February, the 26th, found us playing a four-person Scramble. The best score of a total of 40 strokes for the team was entered by the team of Kathy Jones, Therese Mauterer, Mary Mizell and Marsha Roberts. Once again we ended up with tie for the Second Place position. The following two four-somes each scored 41: the team of Marsha Biestek, Sylvia Corban, Marilyn Galus and Pat VanDervort and the team of Renie Dack, Cheryl Saak, Fran

Smith and Judy Tauzin. Congrats are also due to Marilyn Galus who had a Chip-in for a Birdie on the 9th Hole of the Cardinal.

We are currently signing up for our Founders Day Tournament and Luncheon which we will play on Tuesday, March 12th. Let's hope Mother Nature liked our Founders and blesses us with decent weather. Only time will tell. We will let you in our next article just how we made out.

Once again, we remind you we are always eager to welcome some new faces. It doesn't matter how good or bad your game is because we all just enjoy playing the game. Contact our Club House (228-255-3910) for additional information about the Diamondhead Nines. We would love to meet ya'll.

part of the coverage but you believe you can do better with another plan's drug benefit, then you might want to do the math and see if a switch helps the budget.

Too many consumers fail to do their shopping for the drug benefit when, in fact, they can save thousands of dollars in pharmaceutical expenses by choosing one plan over another.

This special enrollment period gives you a second chance to save on drug costs.

But you may want to switch Medicare Advantage plans or choose traditional coverage for other reasons that are becoming clearer.

Research is beginning to surface that shows Medicare beneficiaries with high medical needs may have trouble accessing care in some Medicare Advantage plans.

Medicare defines those with high needs as people who have three or more chronic diseases and a functional limitation in activities of daily living or in performing routine daily tasks.

The U.S. Office of the Inspector General reported last fall that those with Medicare Advantage plans sometimes had trouble getting claims paid under those plans, or they reported other problems getting help from the plan.

The Inspector General said that because so many seniors now have these plans, even low rates of inappropriately denied payments or services could cause "significant problems" for beneficiaries and their medical providers.

Just last month new research reported in JAMA Internal Medicine found that Medicare beneficiaries with high medical needs and those eligible for both Medicare and Medicaid were much more likely to disenroll from Medicare Advantage plans than other beneficiaries.

Researchers at Brown and Columbia Universities found that disenrollment from MA plans "may indicate that plans do not meet the preferences of enrollees with significant chronic illness."

This study and the Inspector General's findings offer a cautionary tale for people who will be new to Medicare in the coming months and for sick beneficiaries in Medicare Advantage plans who may want to reevaluate their options during this special open enrollment and next fall when open enrollment comes around again.

students to be included in the Mississippi Rural Physicians Scholarship Residency Program. Mississippi is primarily a rural state, and the lack of physicians of all specialties creates a health disparity in smaller communities.

The scholarship helps medical students pay their school expenses in exchange for agreeing to practice for a period of time in rural areas. By adding mental health specialists to the program, individuals in underserved areas who are suffering from mental illnesses will have accessible, expert medical care just like anyone else suffering from a treatable disease. The bill has been returned to the Senate for concurrence.

The Mississippi Supreme Court's Commission on Children's Justice returned a number of recommendations to help us provide the best possible outcomes for troubled children in our Youth Court system. Senate Bill 2840 addresses the recommendations, including one that requires judge's orders regarding child custody to be reduced to writing within 48 hours. Previously, parties could have to wait as long as six months to receive them. The measure is designed to help children who are in the foster care system. If there was ever a group that needs every possible bit of support, it is these children. This bill passed the House by a vote of 116-0.

I authored HB 1067 in an effort to add transparency to our Youth Court system and it passed the House overwhelmingly. However, the bill died in the Senate this past week over objections raised by some Youth Court Judges. Mississippi's Youth Court system is improving, especially here in Hancock County, but it is still regarded as one of the most secret systems in the U.S. Action during the coming days will again center around appropriation and revenue measures sent to us from the Senate. For those measures that are amended in the House and concurred to by the Senate, the next stop is the Governor's desk. If the Senate disagrees with our changes, the differences will be ironed out in conference committees, which rarely meet in public. You can follow actions on your important bills by using the search function on the www.legislature.ms.gov web page and clicking on the link under the bill name which will show you all activities related to the measure.

I continue to be proud to serve you as your State Representative for House District 122, the best in Mississippi! If I can ever be of service to you do not hesitate to contact me.

Altar

"It started as just a little thing," Clyde said Tuesday, pointing to a board with 50 years' worth of altar photos on it, "but it just kept getting bigger every year."

Fittingly, he said, this year's altar was the biggest yet.

"I had to quit cooking at 2:30 this morning," he said. "There still food to cook -- we just ran out of room on the tables."

While lots of the Koerners' neighbors get to feast, the family altar is also a benefit to the church. Visitors to the altar often leave donations, which the Koerner family splits between St. Augustine and

Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church. Any of the left-over food goes to the Hancock County Senior Citizens Center, Clyde said.

While this year's altar was the family's last public offering, the tradition will still continue next year.

"My niece is taking it over next year," Clyde said, "but it will just be for family at her home in Picayune, not for the public."

Officials with the Mississippi Department of Marine Resources on Monday conducted a prescribed burn on an 80-acre section of the Ansley Unit of the Hancock County Marsh Preserve, in order to help remove heavy fuel loads from the ground, promote a healthy understory for wildlife habitat, and function as a site prep aid for tree plantings and restoration efforts. The fire will also aid with the removal of invasive species such as Chinese Tallow, as well as increase access to infested areas for additional treatment, DMR officials said.

dumpster services, pest control, water and sewer, insurance, and telephone.

Wittliff said the pantry operated on a $30,000 deficit in 2017. In 2018, the pantry was forced to stop purchasing personal hygiene items to distribute.

In spring 2018, the pantry received help from the community.

"We received over $111,000 from the community," Wittliff said. "In a normal year, we get about $70,000 to $80,000 a year from the community. That on top of the fact that we didn't buy the personal hygiene items for most of the year, we came in with a significant surplus for next year. We received a total of $184,000 in contributions and we spent $150,000. We have a $34,000 surplus. So we have now resumed purchasing personal hygiene items. Our board approved that last month."

In 2018, the pantry received about 46,249 pounds of food donated from the community; about 26,022 pounds of free USDA food from the Twelve Baskets Food Bank; and about 140,691 pounds of recovered food from a local retail grocery and two military commissaries in Harrison County.

In 2018, the pantry provided free food and personal hygiene items to 13,389 individuals during 7,618 family visits, Wittliff said. Since 1986, the pantry has provided free food to 283,666 individuals.

In a separate matter, Visit Mississippi Gulf Coast CEO Milton Segerra, and Visit Mississippi Gulf Coast board member Nikki Moon spoke to the board about the county's match for half, with the city of Bay St. Louis, for the rail station project. The county originally approved the match in 2016.

Moon said that "we are now waiting for the legislature to approve the final money."

"In the interim, what Southern Rail has asked us to do is to give them the paperwork that the match is in place," Moon said. "$25,000 from the county, $25,000 from the city of Bay St. Louis matched by $50,00 from Federal Rail. With that, the depot will be in perfect welcoming shape."

Segerra spoke to the board about how the organization plans to market rail travel and unveiled the new brand and logo, "Coastal Mississippi — The Secret Coast."

The media plan includes a "strong" emphasis on Louisiana as a market, which includes television ads and digital billboard advertising. When a vehicle passes by one of the digital billboards, ads will be pushed through to people's phone, Segerra said.

"We're integrating a lot of technology into our marketing plans, supported by a very active digital placement, and social media," Segerra said.

Segerra showed a number of video campaigns, which focuses "on every single coastal city," he said.

The board approved a motion that states the county is still committed to the $25,000 match for the Rail Station project.

In other action:

Kristen Gunter with the South Mississippi Planning and Development District told the board that the first interim data for the flood plain mapping project has been submitted to FEMA. It is one of five submittals, she said. SMPDD is working to update "coastal flood analysis and mapping for Hancock, Harrison, and Jackson counties. Learn more at www.mscoastalmap.com.

The board approved a motion creating the Keep Hancock County Beautiful Board with members: Tish Haas, Bernie Cullens, Katherine Ohman, Craig Clement, Don Siebenkittel, Karen Rice, Jim Meggett, Basil Kennedy, and David Depreo.

The board approved a motion to approve the tax abatement program — consistent with the county's incentives policy — for the Pearl Hotel, which is being constructed by The Cure Land Co. The four-story, 59-room hotel will be located at the corner of Main Street and Beach Boulevard in Bay St. Louis. It includes 5,500 square-feet of ground-level commercial and restaurant space. The taxes not abated include, road and bridge, PRCC, state mandatory, Bay-Waveland School District, and Bay St. Louis.

The board approved a resolution authorizing implementation of the Hancock County Human Resource Agency's plan for Brenda's House. Due to the state's move towards a "strengthening families and protective factors" framework, HCHRA Executive Director Lora Mederos, the services provided at Brenda's House also need to change. Brenda's House operated as a children's emergency shelter.

Mederos also said that the number of children in care in Hancock County also decreased by 50 percent in the last year. Mederos asked the board at the March 4 meeting to support the transition from a children's emergency shelter to Brenda House Family Center, which will "work to ensure that children are safe in their homes; parents have the skills and resources to safely support their children; teens have opportunities to become successful and independent; and our agencies will collaborate together to help families of Hancock County."

The scheduled date to end services for children at the shelter is March 31, Mederos said.

The board approved a motion appointing Judge Preston Mauffray as interim justice court judge due to the resignation of Judge Tommy Carver.

The next meeting is scheduled for April 1 at 9 a.m.

Pass sweeps Bay on diamond, Rocks win three

BY JOSEPH W. GEX, II
STAFF WRITER

As this story is being penned, the sun is out and no clouds in the sky. However, this is South Mississippi at the beginning of springtime and those words really have not meant much to the diamond this year. Seriously, this may be the first week of the baseball/softball season in which will not be affected by the weather or field conditions. That is hard to believe now that we are a month into the diamond seasons. At any rate, all area teams were in action this past week with both good and bad results.

Baseball

The Pass Christian Pirates (4-8, 2-0) completed the sweep over the Bay High Tigers with a narrow 4-3 victory at Bay St. Louis.

The Pirates pushed a run across the plate in the top of the first inning after a lead off single by Logan Webb. He worked his way around the base paths and scored as the Pirates sent five batters to the plate.

The Tigers answered in the bottom half of the frame to take a 2-1 lead.

Carson Moran walked followed by a bunt single from Charlie Cook. Garrett Langrell drove in Moran to knot the game at 1-1.

Cade Compretta was hit by a pitch and took first before Cooper Cooksey drove in Cook for the 2-1 lead.

The Tigers put the first two batters on base to start the second before Cooksey retired the side with a ground out, fly out and strikeout.

The Tigers (3-5, 0-2) could not manage anything in the bottom half of the second.

Corben Williams smacked a two-out double for the Pirates (4-8, 2-0) but was left stranded. The Pirates fanned the side for Bay High to move to the fourth inning.

Pass Christian tied the game at 2-2 when

Hard Knocks and Ice Cream

Took advantage of a bad weather day last week, to do a little "continuing education". Got an invite from Mrs Colette Webber up at Coast Episcopal Elementary, to come and have a chat with her with class. Myself and marine biology teacher, Summer Dorcik were giving kind of a career day talk.

We both gave the stories of how we got to where we are in our careers. The students would ask questions(very politely I might add) about some of places we've both been, or fish we've caught. I think the 6th graders were a little freaked out when I told them some mornings my

by Capt. Sonny Schindler day may start as early as 3 AM!!! Mrs Webber was beaming with joy when both Summer and I emphasized the importance of writing. They were completely floored to find out that a fisherman writes daily.

As with anyone who asks me about being charter fisherman/fisherman, I always try to talk them out of it. I tell them to get a degree or trade that they are passionate about. Make a pile of money, and go fishing when ever they want.

You really have to like people more than fish to do what we Guides do.

One young girl couldn't believe Summer and I knew so many different species of fish. I asked her what favorite thing in the world was, she said, "eating ice cream". I told her to imagine getting up at the crack of dawn, and taking different people to eat different types of ice cream EVERYDAY.

You do it enough times, and you're gonna learn the different flavors/fish.

Thank you Mrs Webber for letting me talk to your class, they were absolutely awesome! Kids if you're reading this, Stay in school, follow your passions, and please go easy on the ice cream...

As always, have fun and be safe.

Jaymason Funderburk drew a Walk and Mason Knapp later drove him in on a fielder's choice.

The Tigers could not muster any momentum other than a single by Ben Wilemon in the fourth.

In the bottom of the fifth and the top of the sixth, the two teams traded runs to remain tied 3-3.

In the bottom of the sixth, the Tigers put 'ducks on the pond' when Lawrence Peterson was hit by a pitch, Eli Bigham drew a walk and Antonio Saltalamacchia advanced on a bunt single. However, Bay High came up empty-handed as the next three batters went strikeout, fly out, and strikeout to end the Tiger threat.

In the top of the seventh, Dustin Allison reached on a throwing error followed by a single from Williams. One out later, Marcos Chacon drew a walk. Trentin Niolet drove in Williams to make the score 4-3.

In the bottom of the seventh, the Tigers got two base runners early with Compretta reaching on an error and Cooksey getting a single.

But, it was more of the same Murphy's Law for Bay High as the next three batters went fly out, strike out and ground out to end the game.

In all, the Tigers stranded 11 runners in the game.

Pass Christian head coach Rickey Smith commented, "I could not be any prouder of these guys. They came over and beat their rival at their place in a fight game. We need to continue to play at this level and make things happen."

The Pirates were led by Williams who had a single, double and RBI. Niolet also had a double and RBI and got the win on the mound in relief allowing just one hit and fanning four batters. Webb and Bryce Dubuisson also had hits.

Bay High head coach Kevin Burdine stated, "Cooper Cooksey pitched well enough to win the game tonight. He threw 114 pitches before we had to take him out. There were too many missed opportunities, offensively, for us tonight. We stranded too many runners on base. We have to keep plugging away and take advantage of the opportunity when it presents itself."

The Tigers were paced by Cook, Cooksey and Wilemon who all had singles. Langrell and Cooksey each had an RBI.

The Tigers fell to Greene County 8-0 on Saturday.

Pass Christian dropped their game with d'Iberville 10-0 in a no-hitter.

The Hancock Hawks (5-5, 0-2) did not have a scheduled game on Friday and Saturday's game against Picayune was cancelled.

The St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaws (9-4-1) picked up three wins over the weekend including a big 8-5 victory over East Central on Friday that split the series.

Music starts at 4 p.m. with art and reception to follow at 5 p.m.

Fourth Sunday at Four is held at Christ Episcopal Church, located at 912 South Beach Blvd, Bay St. Louis.

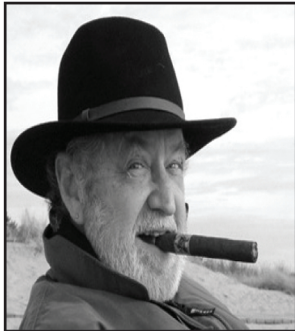

PERFORMING ARTIST

The American classical guitarist, Giovanni De Chiaro, made his debut in 1976 in a Carnegie Hall performance that brought a rave notice from the New York Times and launched a career of distinction. He has presented seven solo recitals at Carnegie Hall and more recently performed there with the Mississippi Guitar Quartet, an ensemble he established. He has concertized throughout the United States, South America, Canada, Europe and Mexico and has performed for Pope John Paul II at the Vatican in Rome. He also was invited to perform for President and Mrs. Bill Clinton for two special Christmas functions at the White House. Mr. De Chiaro is a recording artist for Centaur Records in Baton Rouge, Louisiana. He has recorded his guitar transcriptions of the complete works of Scott Joplin, two Christmas CDs, a Broadway Collection and a Wedding Album. His latest release entitled "Melodie d'Amore" features his guitar transcriptions of familiar piano masterpieces from the Romantic Period. He has published extensively with the Willis Music Publishing Company and has released four anthologies of his transcriptions with Mel Bay Publications. Mr. De Chiaro has recorded two nationally televised programs for PBS which have won top honors at several national and international film festivals. He was also featured on the National Public Radio program "All Things Considered" discussing and performing several of his Scott Joplin transcriptions. His recordings are regularly featured on the NPR programs "Classical Guitar Alive" and "Performance Today". Mr. De Chiaro retired as Professor of Guitar at the University of Southern Mississippi in Hattiesburg, Mississippi, having served there for twenty-five years. At present he is Artist In Residence for the Rapides Parish School System in Alexandria, Louisiana, where he is developing a string program. Mr. De Chiaro is the founder and director of the Carlow Choir, a vocal ensemble which has presented concerts of sacred music throughout the United States, Ireland and Italy. While in Italy, the choir performed for Pope Benedict XVI at the Vatican in Rome. The choir has released a recording of sacred anthems on the Centaur Record Label entitled "Reflections For The Heart" and has recorded three special television programs for the global Catholic television network EWTN (The Eternal Word Television Network), including a concert recorded at St. Patrick's Cathedral in Dublin, Ireland. Mr. De Chiaro is also the founder and director of the Alexandria Youth

Michael Morris

Orchestra which has won first place honors in two national competitions in Memphis, TN and Nashville, TN. Mr. De Chiaro is now serving as professor of classical guitar at Louisiana College in Pineville, LA. His latest recording features him performing the Concierto De Chiaro with the London Symphony Orchestra recorded on the Centaur Record label.??? VISUAL ARTIST

Michael Morris originally from Jersey City, NJ, now lives in Bethel, Connecticut. He is a painter, sculptor and graphic designer. A graduate of Kansas State University with a Bachelor of Science in Art Education and Yale University with a Bachelors and a Masters of Fine Art in sculpture. His work has appeared in several group shows, solo exhibits at Westport Art Center, in Bethel and South Norwalk, CT showing his large-scale Massurrealist* paintings. He won awards at Silvermine "Art of the Northeast" and "Contemporary Visions" at the University of Bridgeport. Earning a living as a graphic designer/art director for many years. His wide range of clients include companies like Beech Aircraft, NBC, Dos Equis, HBO, General Cigar, and PEZ. During this design period Morris kept painting and recently and importantly has returned to sculpture; working in a geometric/abstract framework that continues to explore the concepts of vibrational energy in all things. Michael Morris is an originator of the Massurrealist Art movement. Massurrealism is an art form rooted in the interplay between mass media, pop art, contemporary culture and Surrealist imagery. The term massurrealism was coined by artist, James Seehafer. This movement includes many meanings: First, is the concept of mass as in the mass media of television, advertising and the internet, etc.

Second, the products of mass production, as in the new phones, automobiles and jet aircraft, vacuum forming, etc. Third, are images from mass culture, beer cans, beach balls, shopping carts, swimming pools, fashions, etc. Encompassing inexplicable concepts from the mass studied by particle physics to vibrational energy and the ideas of oneness of all matter. In other words, combining visual icons from the outer world (what we call reality) and the inner world (the surreal, the venue of the subconscious). Including the big mass/weight we feel and attribute to our emotions, thoughts and dreams.

"4th Sunday at 4" is Christ Episcopal Church's gift to the Coastal Community. As such, "4th Sunday at 4" is free and open to the public. Also, no artist, performing or visual, is charged a fee to participate, nor is any commission or percentage taken by the church. All money in the "donation basket" is given to the performers, and all payments for art go directly to the artist. A church is seldom in a position to engage an entire community, but it can do its part by supporting one segment of a community.

• DNA testing in genealogy is an important new tool for us to use in our research. DNA test results are best combined with the paper trail that comes from customary genealogy research, but may help some people find relatives they know nothing about. There are some limitations and risks of uncovering desired as well as undesired information. This introductory session will detail the types of DNA tests available and the results a test taker can expect from ethnicity estimates to DNA matches and how we can use these to find relatives and discover unknown ancestors. Come to the Genealogy Library, 307 2nd Avenue in Hattiesburg, 7:00 p.m., Tuesday, April 2, to learn more about this topic. All meetings are free and open to the public. The Genealogy Library is open Saturdays 9:00-2:00, Wednesdays, 9:00-1:00, and before monthly meetings at 6:00 p.m. Experienced genealogy researchers will help you find your family roots. Redbuds can tolerate various soils, conditions

MSU EXTENSION SERVICE

What a crazy late winter and early spring we’ve had so far this year: warm, cold and repeat.

In fact, I had the wild idea that Feb. 15 was a good time to plant some tomatoes because it wasn’t going to frost again. Well, that blast of cold we had last week certainly showed me how silly that idea was. Oh well. I have plenty of replacements that will be planted at the correct time.

But even with the fluctuations in the weather and the talk of changing weather patterns, I take solace in the fact that Mother Nature knows when to wake up our gardens and landscapes at the right time. I look at plants growing in wild areas for clues that spring is right around the corner.

Red maples started flowering at their usual time, the third week of January. This timing has varied only by a few days over the past 11 years. The bright-yellow, trumpet-shaped flowers of Carolina jessamine reveal how far this vine scrambles through the landscape.

One of my favorite spring indicators is our native redbud. Known botanically as Cercis canadensis, redbud is a small tree that flowers early in the spring. It’s a good thing redbuds bloom so early because they are usually found in the understory. It’s common to see a redbud framed or silhouetted by leafless hardwoods poking out along the state’s highways.

The redbud is a readily adaptable species that can tolerate many different soil and climatic conditions, except in the coastal counties. They are much more common north of Hattiesburg. First, they’re found growing in the swales around creeks. Farther north, they become more common on flatter land. Be on the lookout on Highway 45 north of Meridian for one of my favorite individual trees standing alone at the back of a field.

Redbud flower color is gorgeous, ranging from light, clear pink to purplish pink. There are even several white-flowered selections in the nursery trade. The flowers are grouped in clusters held tightly against the stems and branches. The colorful flowers along the stems and branches create imaginative outlines of the branching structure of the tree.

The individual flowers closely resemble pea flowers, which makes sense as redbud is a member of the legume family. The young, unopened flowers actually taste like peas.

One of the best selections I would pick for the landscape is Forest Pansy. It has heart-shaped purple-maroon foliage with outstanding color when receiving morning sun. I really like the selections with leaves close to the Bulldog maroon varieties that are planted all around the main MSU campus.

When grown under optimal conditions, redbud is considered a small tree with the potential of reaching 15 to 30 feet tall. It generally has a short trunk and a rounded, almost umbrella-like crown. Foliage emerges after flowering is finished, almost as if it doesn’t want to interfere with the pink show. Heart-shaped leaves can be 3 to 5 inches across and are glossy green in the summer.

Individual flowers from redbud trees bloom early in the spring and closely resemble pea flowers.

Forest Pansy redbud trees have blossoms ranging in color from pink to maroon, which is on display on the Mississippi State University campus in Starkville.
